Mysuru, July 27 (RK&BS)- In a filmy style, a private factory employee was robbed of a cash bag containing Rs. 6,05,797 lakh near the branch of a bank at Hebbal Industrial Area in city yesterday morning while another bag containing Rs. 38.4 lakh cash remained with the victim, much to his relief.

The broad daylight robbery occurred at around 10.15 am, when Tulsidas, an employee of Darasaguppe SSC Private Limited (a packaging factory of groceries and ITC cigarettes, that supplies to retailers) in Hebbal Industrial Area, came to deposit the collection amount to State Bank of India (SBI) branch in the same locality.

Tulsidas got down from the cabin of a goods vehicle driven by another, when a stranger who was waiting next to the compound of the bank building, slowly walked towards him and snatched the bag containing Rs. 6,05,797 from his (Tulsidas) right hand from behind, before throwing chilli powder into his face and fled on a waiting motorbike ridden by another person. Tulsidas was holding another bag in his left hand containing Rs. 38.4 lakh, which was left untouched by the robber.

The driver of Tulsidas made a bid to catch hold of the fleeing robbers but in vain. Another person, who was seated in a car parked inside the compound of the Bank, responding to the screams of Tulsidas, also chased the robbers, but to no avail.

Darasaguppe SSC Private Limited, owned by one Chetan Prasad, has a huge turnover. They deposit the collection amount to the Bank thrice in a day. The handiwork of those having prior information about the routine of the factory cannot be ruled out in the incident.

The incident has been captured on the CCTV cameras of the Bank and the Police are confident of nabbing the accused soon. Vijayanagar Sub-Division ACP H.S. Gajendra Prasad and Metagalli Police Inspector Diwakar visited the spot. A case has been registered under IPC Section 392 (Punishment for robbery).

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Six decades ago, when I first heard the warning against judging a book by its cover, the proverb made no sense. Enid Blyton's Mystery of the Missing Necklace had pearls depicted on its wrapper, and the story was about them. The picture outside was linked to the pages within.

My parents then asked me if I would shun another novel because of its tattered exterior. I shook my head. The Naughtiest Girl in the School was my favourite, and only falling apart because of repeated reading. Later, I understood that the book-and-cover maxim had a metaphorical meaning.

Today, as I teach Shakespeare's plays, I dwell on this theme of deceptive appearances. In The Merchant of Venice, anyone who wishes to marry Portia must choose from among three caskets, one of which contains her portrait. While two suitors opt for those made of gold and silver, Bassanio settles for ordinary lead, and wins the extraordinary lady.

To return to the saying, it urges discernment, and not merely in the matter of books and boxes. We need to view others fairly, rather than perceive as inferior people who look, speak, dress or act differently from us. Phillis Wheatley, the earliest African-American to have her works published, was once thus unjustly disparaged.

Born in Senegal, in 1753, she was a child when sold as a slave to a Boston family. Phillis was treated kindly, and by the age of thirteen, she was proficient in English. When she tried to make her poems known, however, many doubted that they were by her. Phillis underwent an arduous interview during which she was questioned by eighteen learned men. She had to quote passages from the Bible and the classics to prove that she had penned her scholarly writings. Eventually, she triumphed. George Washington, who admired Phillis Wheatley, concluded a letter to her with these words: 'I am, with great respect, your humble, obedient servant."

Evidently, that distinguished general, who went on to become the president of his new nation, found the young woman's lowly antecedents irrelevant to the fact that she possessed lofty literary talent. He knew that there was more to a book than its cover. — Suryakumari Dennison in Deccan Herald

VOICE OF THE READER

Manipur in the eyes of a Mysurean

Sir,

I write this to augment the good words written about Manipur by Dilip Misra in this column (Star of Mysore dated July 23), with my experiences during the visit to that State in January 2022.

The main intention of that trip of mine to the North-East was to see the land, mingle with people and learn about their lifestyles in this farthest corner of our nation. I was in Manipur for three days and stayed along with my wife, her sister and two grown up girl children, at a home stay in the outskirts of Imphal, the capital.

We visited the popular tourist places in and around the city. Further, we wandered around the streets in the rural side, visited petty shops and talked to people. It was my experience that people in the region are largely simple, friendly and peace-loving.

Our visit to places like the Kangla Fort, the Women's Market, the Govindajee temple and the remote tribal village Andro, proved that life in this beautiful tiny State is not much different from that in our part of the country. Manipur offers some exceptionally fascinating places like (the world's only) floating wildlife sanctuary and the world's largest all-women's market also. But, sadly the State is burning now, making news for all the unpleasant reasons.

It is a pity that the Central Government has shown scant regard for the situation in Manipur and our ever energetic Prime Minister has been busy making his ground stronger in election-bound States, rather than paying attention to the emergency calls. I pray our brethren in Manipur see peaceful days back again early.

Pipeline works drag on; commuters face hard time

Yadavagiri-Gokulam traffic hit; Standing Committee inspects Gokulam First Stage, Contour Road

Mysuru, July 27 (SBD&BS)- Following the inconvenience caused to the public due to the prolonged delay in laying the drinking water pipeline at Yadavagiri in the city, the Members of the City Planning and Reforms (Works) Standing Committee of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) inspected the spot on July 25.

The inspection team, led by Chairperson H.M. Shanthakumari and Members K.V. Sridhar, S. Sathwik, V. Lokesh Piya and Begum (Pallavi), along with MCC Officers, assessed the progress of works on the main road of Gokulam First Stage and the pothole-riddled Contour Road.

The Committee members expressed dissatisfaction over the current state of affairs and urged the MCC officers to expedite the works for smooth traffic flow.

The ongoing works to lay the pipeline are part of the Hale Unduwadi drinking water project. However, the slow pace of progress is causing concern. The work is currently in progress from Gokulam Main Road Junction to Ganapathi Temple Junction.

The accumulation of soil on the road is posing difficulties for vehicle movement, exacerbated by recent rain, which has turned the stretch into a slushy mess, inconveniencing pedestrians as well.

The Standing Committee noted that six months after the completion of the pipeline works, the trench on Contour Road remains poorly filled, resulting in numerous potholes and a bumpy ride for vehicle users.

The officers were directed to ensure the road is levelled and properly asphalted after the completion of pipeline works, without compromising on the quality of the repairs. It was emphasised that neglecting the condition of the road while carrying out these works is unacceptable, and immediate action should be taken to facilitate smooth traffic flow.

The delay in completing the works has adversely affected commercial activities, with shopkeepers facing losses.

The area houses various establishments, including medical shops, hotels, eateries and grocery stores. Pedestrians also avoid the route due to the ongoing inconvenience, further affecting businesses.

Sridhar expressed concern about the work execution, pointing out that the road should have been accessible to vehicles at least partially during the process.

He underlined the need to shift the soil elsewhere after trenching, lay the pipeline, refill the trench using the same soil, level the ground and asphalt the road within the agreed timeline.

However, it was observed that soil has been dumped on the road, seemingly to avoid transport costs. Despite budget allocation of Rs. 4.5 crore for repairing the road after the completion of works, the delay in executing the plan has caused frustration.

Online fraud

Two senior citizens cheated of Rs. 8.99 lakh

Mysuru, July 27- In separate cases, two women senior citizens have been cheated to the tune of Rs. 8,99,700 by online fraudsters.

In the first case, a 60-year-old woman, who was sent a link to pay her electricity bill, has been cheated of Rs. 5 lakh by the fraudsters. The woman, who was cheated, is V. Usha Rani, a resident of Kuvempunagar in city.

After sending the website link to Usha on her WhatsApp number, fraudsters repeatedly called her from different phone numbers forcing her to make the payment.

When Usha clicked on the link, a Quick Support App got installed on her mobile phone and later Rs. 5 lakh was illegally transferred from her Bank account.

In the second case, 60-year-old Anuradha Prakash, a resident of T.K. Layout, received a message on her WhatsApp, which stated that there was a part time job and all she had to do was to like a YouTube channel, send a screen shot and receive money for it.

Anuradha was later added to a group in Telegram App where she was told to invest money and receive commission. Believing it, Anuradha transferred Rs. 3,99,700 and got cheated.

Both the cases have been registered at City's Cyber, Economic and Narcotics (CEN) Crime Police Station.

Software Engineer's house burgled at Belavatta

Mysuru, July 27- Miscreants, who gained entry into a Software Engineer's house at Belavatta, have decamped with gold ornaments and silver articles from the house.

The burglary took place at the house of 33-year-old K.P. Devaraj, a Software Engineer at a private company in Metagalli here.

Devaraj's wife, who was pregnant, left to her parents' house on July 12 and Devaraj had accompanied her. Before leaving, Devaraj had given the house keys to Suraj, who was living on the first floor of Devaraj's house, asking him to feed the fishes in the aquarium.

On July 22, Suraj, who fed the fishes, left for Bengaluru and on July 25, when Devaraj returned, he found the door forcibly opened and on inspecting the house, he found 55 grams gold ornaments and 60 grams silver articles, which were kept in the wardrobe stolen. All digital display boards in city to be removed

They disrupt heritage character and violate norms, says District Heritage Conservation Committee

Mysuru, July 27 (MK&BCT)- The District Heritage Conservation Committee has decided to remove digital display signages in compliance with heritage policy.

The move comes after the Heritage Committee, responsible for preserving heritage structures, found that the digital display boards were disrupting the historical character of the area built during the rule of Wadiyars.

The decision was taken during a meeting chaired by Deputy Commissioner (DC) Dr. K.V. Rajendra at the Old DC's Office meeting hall yesterday. Renowned Heritage expert Prof. Rangaraju expressed concern that Mysuru, being a traditional and cultural city, is losing its beauty due to the presence of digital sign boards.

Prof. Rangaraju called for the dismantling of digital display boards that have been set up in various parts of the city, particularly in the core heritage area where Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) had allowed hoardings and display boards to be installed without adhering to heritage norms.

He emphasised the need for maintaining uniformity in the display of all hoardings and digital signages in the core heritage area, ensuring they comply with heritage norms. Prof. Rangaraju defined display as the presentation of any matter, whether commercial or non-commercial, through visual, audio, print or electronic means, targeted at the public, including words, signs, models, placards, notices or representations for advertising, announcements or publicity. He insisted that all such signages must adhere to heritage norms.

Furthermore, Prof. Rangaraju highlighted that these digital boards are also distraction for motorists, diverting their attention. In response, DC Dr. Rajendra assured that measures will be taken to remove such signages at prominent circles and junctions, such as Ramaswamy Circle, Vontikoppal Circle, KSOU Circle and AIISH Circle on Manasagangothri Road. He directed MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy (now transferred) to take appropriate action.

During the meeting, there was a strong consensus that the Old DC's Office should be preserved and transformed into a museum. Although some attendees suggested handing over the building to the University of Mysore (UoM), the majority agreed to prioritise conservation before making any decision.

Additionally, the meeting approved proposals for the repair and restoration of over eight neighbouring buildings adjacent to the heritage structures. According to the Heritage Conservation Act, the height of these neighbouring buildings should not exceed that of the heritage structures. Conditional approval was granted for repair works, provided they adhere to heritage norms.

The Committee frequently receives renovation proposals for buildings that do not align with the existing heritage character of the area. In some instances, installations, not in harmony with the architectural heritage, have been constructed based on the shop owners' requirements, observed the members.

Present at the meeting were Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) Commissioner G.T. Dinesh Kumar, Deputy Director of the Department of Archaeology, Museums and Heritage, Manjula, Conservationist Prof. Shakeeb-ur-Rehman and Engineers from MCC and MUDA.

Won't allow Devaraja Market to be razed: Chamaraja MLA

Devaraja Market tenants, traders fete K. Harishgowda

Mysuru, July 27 (MK&BS)- Chamaraja MLA K. Harishgowda, during his birthday celebration and felicitation ceremony organised by Devaraja Market Sneha Balaga in the Market premises on July 25, reassured the traders that he is committed to preserving the heritage structure of Devaraja Market and will take all necessary steps to ensure it is not demolished under any circumstances.

Reflecting on his childhood memories, he mentioned that Devaraja Market held a special place in his heart, exuding a sense of happiness akin to what people experience in modern-day malls. He stressed that he would not permit the demolition of this historic Market, which boasts a legacy of over a century.

Drawing a parallel, he cited the conservation efforts undertaken in a popular Market in Rajasthan, which serves as an example of systematic preservation. He pointed out that timely maintenance, including refurbishing the structure with paint and cleaning, would have prevented any need for demolition.

He encouraged shopkeepers to take care of the Market as if it were their own homes, as this approach would ensure its protection for generations to come.

The MLA mentioned that Chief Minister Siddharamaiah had previously allocated Rs. 10 crore for the conservation works of the Devaraja Market. However, some officers misled the Chief Minister, leading to a lack of progress in the conservation efforts, a fact that the MLA regretted.

Expressing his commitment to preserving the heritage of the Market and acknowledging the advancements in technology, he pledged to involve himself in the fight to save the Market from demolition.

During the event, other dignitaries, including Historian Prof. P.V. Nanjaraje Urs, Member of Heritage Committee Prof. N.S. Rangaraju, writer Bannur K. Raju and President of Devaraja Market Tenants Association S. Mahadev, also shared their thoughts on the importance of preserving the heritage structure.

Various attendees, including Corporator M.D. Nagaraj, former Corporator D. Nagabhushan, President of Devaraja Market Traders Association K. Dinesh and traders at Devaraja Market Ibrahim Ibbu, Zakir Hussain, Syed Jaffer, Neelakanta, S.H. Murthy, N. Manjunath, Ravi Kumar, Subbanna, Nanjunda, Paduvarahalli Mahadev, Riyaz and others, were present at the event.

25 accident spots on Expressway: ADGP

Artificial Intelligence-based cameras deployed to capture over-speeding, says Alok Kumar

Mysuru, July 27 (RK&BCT)- Additional Director-General of Police (Traffic and Road Safety) Alok Kumar reported that he has identified approximately 20 to 25 accident-prone spots along the Mysuru-Bengaluru Expressway.

Having personally inspected the 118-km stretch, he highlighted areas that either pose a danger for accidents or create problems for villagers due to the absence of foot over-bridges and other facilities.

Alok Kumar addressed reporters after a meeting with senior Police officers, including those from the Civil, Traffic and Intelligence Departments at the City Police Commissioner's Office yesterday. The ADGP underlined the urgent need for the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) to address numerous incomplete works on the Expressway to reduce accidents and fatalities.

Onus on NHAI

The NHAI is required to take immediate safety measures to prevent accidents, including the erection of crash barriers at sharp curves and foot over - bridges. Tenders have already been invited for these safety installations, he said.

An NHAI team of road safety experts conducted an inspection from July 17 to 19 and is yet to submit their report. Based on their findings, the NHAI will carry out necessary repairs and rectifications at accident spots, as required.

Alok Kumar stressed that the NHAI must provide the minimum safety requirements; otherwise, the Highway Authority will be held accountable for contributory negligence in the event of a major accident.

Currently, the NHAI is taking steps to improve safety along the Expressway, such as installing caution boards near Gananagur and Kaniminike Toll Plazas and planning to erect crash barriers and foot over-bridges near Mandya district and Ramanagara. Additionally, 97 bus shelters and toilets will be set up, and proper entry and exit points are being designed.

Regarding complaints of theft of fencing, the ADGP clarified that the Police Department has not received any complaints from the NHAI thus far.

AI-based cameras

In an effort to curb over-speeding, two AI-based cameras have been deployed on a trial basis along the Expressway to capture offenders. The NHAI has called for tenders to install more such Automatic Number Plate Recognition cameras. Moreover, Alok Kumar revealed that an Intelligent Traffic Management System will soon be experimented in Mysuru.

Alok Kumar tweeted, "Inspected the progress of road safety related work on Bengaluru-Mysore Expressway. AI based cameras deployed on trial basis to capture over-speeding. Introducing Intelligent Traffic Management System in Mysore City soon, any suggestion from citizens is welcome in this regard."

To ensure compliance with speed limits, various signs have been displayed along the Expressway. The speed limit is set at 100 kmph for the right lane, 80 kmph for the middle lane, and 60 kmph for the left lane.

Violators will face penalties under the Motor Vehicles Act 1988, and Traffic Management Centres (TMC) will generate e-challans. Notices will be sent to the offenders based on the addresses attached to their vehicle numbers.

The introduction of AI-based cameras will be particularly beneficial, especially during nighttime. Deploying Police Officers to monitor violators at night can be risky and challenging. These cameras will capture footage of traffic violations, which will be used to generate e-challans automatically.

Using AI-based cameras in this manner offers several advantages, such as continuous surveillance without the limitations of human resources and the ability to capture violations with high accuracy.

City Police Commissioner Ramesh Banoth, DCPs Muthuraj and S. Jahnavi and others were present at the meeting.

KSRTC buses, trucks biggest lane discipline violators

"KSRTC buses and trucks have been identified as significant violators of lane discipline on the roads. To address this concern, Mysuru City Police Commissioner, Ramesh Banoth, has been instructed to engage with the KSRTC Divisional Controller to organise counselling sessions for KSRTC bus drivers. Additionally, a separate counselling session should be coordinated with the Agricultural Produce Marketing Committee (APMC) authorities for truck drivers."

Playing film songs at weddings not violation of copyright: Centre

New Delhi, July 27 (Agencies)- The Central Government has issued a directive stating that playing Bollywood songs at wedding ceremonies and other festivities will not result in legal action for copyright infringement.

This directive was issued in response to numerous complaints regarding the collection of royalties by Copyright Societies for the performance of Hindi film songs at wedding functions.

In a public notice, the Department for Promotion, Industry and Internal Trade (DPIIT) said that it has received several complaints and grievances from the general public and other stakeholders about the alleged collection of royalties by the Copyright Societies for the performance of musical works in marriage functions in contravention of the letter and spirit of Section 52 (1) (za) of the Copyright Act 1957.

Section 52 of the Act deals with certain Acts that would not constitute an infringement of Copyright.

It said that Section 52 (1) (za) specifically mentions the performance of literary, dramatic, or musical work or of a sound recording in the course of any bona fide religious ceremony or an official ceremony as not constituting infringement of copyright.

Religious ceremonies include a marriage procession and other social festivities associated with marriage, it said.

In view of this, "Copyright Societies are directed to strictly refrain from entering into Acts that are in contravention of Section 52 (1) (za) " of the Act "in order to avoid any legal action," the DPIIT said.

It also cautioned the general public not to accede to any uncalled demands from any individual, organisation, or Copyright Society that are in violation of this Section.

Car plunges into VC Canal in Mandya; driver missing

Expert swimmers and divers searching for the missing car driver in VC Canal.

Mandya, July 27 (Mohan Raj& BCT)- A speeding car plunged into the VC Canal this morning and the driver is missing.

According to eyewitnesses, the driver, Lokesh, lost control over the vehicle and as a result, the car fell into the canal. The VC Canal is full to the brim as water is being released from the Krishna Raja Sagar (KRS) Dam.

The incident took place near Thibbanahalli in Mandya taluk and Lokesh was driving towards Shivalli village. The car veered off the road and fell into the canal. As eyewitnesses recounted the harrowing scene, it became evident that the lack of protective barriers along the canal played a significant role in the accident. The car submerged rapidly in the high water level.

Despite immediate efforts by onlookers, Lokesh remains missing, prompting an intensive search operation to locate him. Local villagers took swift action, informing the KRS Dam authorities to halt water flow into the canal to facilitate the retrieval of the submerged car. Shivalli Police have registered a case.

Local villagers said that the incident brings to mind a similar accident that occurred in 2017 when a bus met a similar fate due to the absence of protective barriers along the canal. In the wake of that tragedy, the Government had pledged to construct safety barriers to prevent such occurrences.

However, the lack of progress in implementing these safety measures has sparked public concern and outrage as accidents continue to happen. Residents and activists are calling for immediate construction of protective barriers to prevent further accidents and loss of life.

Kesare Waste Treatment Plant begins trial run

Starts with bacteria culture process for wet waste; electric works pending

Mysuru, July 27 (MTY&BCT)- Kesare Solid Waste Treatment and Recycling Plant has begun trial run last evening and initially, bacteria culture process has started on the wet waste collected from Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Wards that come under the Narasimharaja Constituency.

From now, the waste generated in the Constituency will be shifted to the state-of-the-art plant at Kesare that will have a total capacity of processing 200 tonnes of waste. The new machines will process 50 tonnes of garbage. However, the electrification works of the plant are pending and this morning, staff from the Chamundeshwari Electricity Supply Corporation (CESC) were seen fixing the electricity connections to the machines.

Built at a cost of Rs. 23.37 crore on an 11-acre land, the Kesare Plant's strategic location will allow it to manage solid waste from MCC Zone 5, 7, 8 and 9, along with a portion of Zone 6. Several areas, including Rajivnagar, N.R. Mohalla, Azeez Sait Nagar, Shanthinagar, Ghousianagar, Naidu Nagar and nearby areas, will benefit from this initiative.

As of now, over three truckloads of wet waste have been dumped in the plant and the compost conversion process is on. Composting is a natural biological process that converts organic waste into nutrient-rich compost, which can be used as a soil conditioner or fertiliser. This is a process that uses bacteria to break down wet waste in the absence of oxygen.

Once the bacteria culture process begins on the wet waste, it will take over 42 days for the waste to become compost and after the completion of the process, the compost will be powdered and sold in the market.

Officers told Star of Mysore that the Kesare facility has been designed in such a way that it will manage and process solid waste to minimise environmental impact of landfills and dump yards and at the same time, ensure proper disposal.

The process starts with the collection of solid waste from households, commercial establishments and public areas. At the plant, the collected waste will be segregated to separate recyclable materials (such as paper, plastic, glass, and metals) from non-recyclable or hazardous waste.

This segregation helps optimise the treatment and disposal processes and the Pourakarmikas have been trained to segregate the waste properly as the success of this plant hinges on this factor, officials added.

Tenders will have to be called for the full-fledged functioning of the Kesare plant and the company that has bagged the tender will be responsible to maintain the plant. Till the tender process is finalised, the MCC will process the waste, they said.

DECODING MYTHOLOGY

Dr. Devdutt Pattanaik - Author, Speaker, Illustrator, Mythologist

Origins of the Rice Goddess

The oldest Indian mythology of rice can be found among the Bonda tribal people, who live in Odisha, who are linked to the Munda and Austroasiatic communities who entered India from the South-east, and brought rice growing technology with them over 4,000 years ago. The Bonda say that in ancient times, rice could fly and could eat humans. But they lost a memory game — humans could remember all names of rice, rice could not remember all names of humans. And so, rice became the food of humans. The great hero of the Bonda people, Bhimay, cut the wings of rice, brought them to Earth, and consumed them. This probably is one of the oldest myths dealing with rice cultivation.

In another Bonda story, grains were rotting on Earth. So, the Mahaprabhu, or the great god of the Bonda tribe, tore his loincloth and tied the rice in it. He then placed it on the head of the peacock, which explains the crown on the head of the peacock.

Rice mythology is not found in Vedic literature. But the Buddhist creation myth states that rice existed in the purest of realms. But desire caused it to attach itself to the ground, develop husks and be tough to digest. This is why we have to labour so much to get rice. Buddha loved rice so much that he told his monks to wear robes stitched with square patterns to remind all of the value of well organised irrigated paddy fields.

Rice myths are abundant in South-east Asia. In Indonesia, the king of gods Batara Guru told all the gods to build a palace for him. Anantha Shesha, the serpent who holds the earth, did not have the hands and feet to help in building the palace.

So instead he offered one of his jewelled eggs to Batara Guru. From this jewelled egg emerged a beautiful woman called Devi Sri. All the gods fell in love with her. To prevent a quarrel amongst the gods, the goddess was killed. She was buried under the earth. Then, from different parts of a body different plants emerged that served as cash crops, like rice, betel and bamboo.

In Thailand, the rice goddess was cursed by the wives of the farmers as their husbands paid more attention to her. Rice goddess felt bad and ran away into the darkness with her best friend, the freshwater fish, until the people apologised and agreed to venerate her.

The idea of the freshwater fish as the best friend of rice is a recurring motif in rice mythology. In the Manipur region, the Mietei people also speak of the rice goddess who has many lovers, but who breaks their heart by eventually going away. Her worst enemy is the deer who has been cursed that if it eats rice, it loses its teeth. Her best friend is a fish who helped her escape from those who wanted to harm her.

In Laos, we find the story of a farmer who, desperate for food, trapped a golden fish. To save the golden fish, the king of fishes gave rice to humans. Later when a king locked the rice up in a room, the people started to starve again. A hermit found the rice goddess and cut her into many pieces to create various varieties of rice such as black rice, white rice, hard rice, glutinous rice. He created so many varieties that the king could not control them all.

WORD OF THE DAY

Vagary

Pronunciation: VAY-guh-ree.
Meaning: The word vagary, usually used in its plural form, refers to a change that is difficult to predict or control.
Origin: Let's say, hypothetically, that two roads diverge in a yellow wood. And (also hypothetically) sorry that you cannot travel both, you opt for the grassy one less travelled by. What makes all the difference is the century in which this scenario plays out. In the 16th century, it could be said that you "made a vagary" by wandering off the beaten path. Today you might be said to lead a vagabond lifestyle. Vagabond can be traced to the Latin verb vagārī, meaning "to wander" or "to roam," and it's likely that vagary comes from that same source. Nowadays, however, the noun vagary is mostly used in its plural form to refer to changes that are difficult to predict or control; modern vagaries have less to do with wandering, and more to do with unpredictability, such as what one might encounter down a path that lies in leaves no step has trodden black.
Example: "Fans who follow baseball closely & a good many people who don't, know that the pitch clock has cut almost half-an-hour off the average MLB game time this year. ...After centuries of surrendering to vagaries of extra innings and dawdling players, MLB has defeated time in a different way: by strictly controlling it." —Ben Lindbergh, TheRinger.com, 1 May 2023.

THE ODD WORD

Vapulate

To flog; to be flogged.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Keep something at bay

Meaning: The phrase 'Keep something at bay' means that you try to stop a problematic situation from getting closer to you.
Origin: The phrase "at bay" is a very old one. It first appeared in 1300, at the time it implied the chorus of barks coming from a pack of chasing dogs close behind their prey.
Example: "That kid is very problematic; I am doing my best to keep him at bay."

QUOTE BOX

Money and success don't change people; they merely amplify what is already there. —Will Smith
